

PRAESTA

Amy is an absolute pleasure to work with and we could tell right from our first dealings with her that she would represent our brand with the right combination of professionalism and a light touch approach to her calls.

A few months in and we have won business through her already (with a clear ROI) and have a number of promising conversations and proposal in the pipeline to add to this. There seem to be lots of companies who confidently promise stellar results, but Amy really does deliver.

Best regards,

Pete
